

There is NO problem with HID headlights. How do these complainers even know that the headlights in question were actually HID? They could have been the cheap Halogen replacements with the Coloring. Which is much more likely, some Ricey Kid puts them in his Honda with a bunch of stickers on it. Then either doesn't aim the headlights or does so improperly.